DESCRIPTION

This variable provides information about work flexibility and the possibility of working from home. It indicates if working life has changed during the COVID-19 pandemic. It should be filled for persons declaring at least one month working in the calendar of activity, full or part time (PL211A to PL211L).

When respondents have more than one job, the information on their main work should be provided. This main job can be a full-time job or a part-time job. When respondents cannot spontaneously choose one category, particularly when several reasons apply to them, the main reason should be chosen. The distinction of main reason should be based on the respondent's own perception or select the one which is the most difficult to overcome. If more than one activity status applies in the same month, respondents should select answer based on their self-assessment. The criterion of most time spent may be useful where applicable.

Working '1 Full time' from home means that respondents moved fully to teleworking. Category '2. Yes, but only partially' refers to alternating working hours or days between working place and home. When work could not be adapted to teleworking due to its type (e.g. construction), then category '4. No, it was not possible because my job is not adapted to teleworking' should be chosen.
